Formule pédagogique

Discussions on various topics will contribute to developing students' knowledge of the political system of the country/countries concerned, and will help them gain a better understanding of contemporary society and the main issues facing it. In class, the emphasis is placed on oral expression. Personal preparation before class is mandatory. Various types of authentic documents are used and the class is organized according to students' master, and around short presentations on various topics, role-playing, comments, and analysis of documents of all types, oral exercises of transposition from one specialized language to another, writing CVs and cover letters, and simulated interviews via Skype.
