

Cultural policies in Europe

Presentation

This class is a continuation of the class on "Cultural policies in France" (MPCDT – 4th year). Its primary purpose is to examine the diversity of cultural policies in Europe through the study of several national cases and to highlight national specificities: centralization, federalism, intermediate models. The British, German, Spanish, Italian, Bulgarian, Hungarian, Polish, etc. cases will be examined successively. We will raise the question of the evolutionary trends at work, and that of cultural borrowings and influences. The second objective is to examine the cultural policy of the European Union in relation to national policies. We will consider its slow emergence as well as the various programs implemented by the European Union in the field of culture and communication. The territorial implications at both city and regional levels will also be discussed, as well as the existence of cultural networks.
