

Professional expertise seminar

Presentation

- › Support to the production of country risk analyses (19h)
- › Country risk analysis tutoring (24 h)

Country risk studies are jointly supervised by Caroline Dufy, for economic and financial aspects, and Céline Thiriot, for institutional and social policy aspects. Studies are conducted by mixed groups supported and supervised by a university referent (a teacher-researcher specialized in the country studied) and a professional referent (representing the company, NGO or institution sponsoring the project).

Recommended Prerequisite(s)

Students build on the knowledge acquired through the “Introduction to Risk Analysis”, “Economic Analysis of Country Risk” and “Mapping of Political and Institutional Actors” fourth-year classes to conduct those country risk analyses.

Formule pédagogique

The tutoring of country risk studies is organized in stages: a session to launch the studies (presentation of the methodology), the setting up of working groups, two sessions in which the groups will conduct intermediate presentations with the supervising teachers, and a final presentation of the studies before a jury of teachers and professionals.
