

Professional tutoring

Presentation

The primary objective of this seminar is to help students make career choices and define a strategy to achieve their goals. The main method proposed is ADVP (Activation of Vocational and Personal Development). Beyond the one-off support, the student internalizes this approach and can then potentially use it at different stages of his or her professional career. The proposed exercises aim to explore one's skills, values, talents, limitations, professional interests, investigate the market, make one's choice(s), and finally implement a strategy for finding employment, in this case through an internship.

The second objective of the seminar is to address the issue of internships: to define one's internship project(s) - activities, field or sector, skills and network to be developed; what posture should one adopt during one's internship, how to make the most of one's experience.

The third objective is to provide the student with tools for putting choices into action and for learning more about the market s/he has chosen, through meetings with professionals.
